 - 10.2. Use and Disclosure. Except as expressly and unambiguously allowed herein, the Receiving Party will hold the Disclosing Party's Confidential Information in confidence using the same degree (but no less than a reasonable degree) of care and protection that it uses to protect its own Confidential Information of a similar nature and not use or disclose any Confidential Information. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Receiving Party may disclose Confidential Information to those of its employees and contractors with a need to know such Confidential Information and who have signed a written agreement with nonuse and nondisclosure provisions at least as protective of such Confidential Information as the terms of this Agreement. The Receiving Party may disclose Confidential Information to the minimum extent disclosure is required by court order or as otherwise required by law, on condition that (a) notice of such requirement for such disclosure is given to the Disclosing Party prior to making any such disclosure (if permitted under applicable law); and (b) the Receiving Party ensures that any Confidential Information disclosed under this provision will still be afforded the protection of this Agreement to the extent it does not become publicly available as a result of such disclosure.
 - 10.3. Injunctive Relief. Because of the unique and proprietary nature of the Confidential Information, it is understood and agreed that the Disclosing Party's remedies at law for a breach by the Receiving Party of its obligations under this Section will be inadequate and that the Disclosing Party will be entitled to equitable relief (including provisional and permanent injunctive relief) in addition to any other remedies.
 - 10.4. Compelled Disclosure. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary, the Receiving Party may disclose Confidential Information pursuant to the order or requirement of a court, administrative agency, or other governmental body (collectively, "Compelled Disclosures"); provided, that the Receiving Party provides the Disclosing Party reasonable written notice of a Compelled Disclosure (to the extent legally permitted). All provisions of the Agreement that by their nature should survive termination will so survive.
- 11.5. Temporary Suspension. In addition to any of its other rights or remedies set forth in this Agreement, Riverbed reserves the right to suspend provision of the Offerings: (a) if any undisputed fees are thirty days or more overdue, but only after Riverbed has provided at least one delinquency notice, and at least ten days have passed since transmission of the notice; (b) for Customer's breach of any license and/or usage restrictions and/or Section 14 (Compliance with Laws and Export Control); (c) if Riverbed reasonably determines suspension of the Offering is necessary to avoid material harm to Riverbed or its other end users; or (d) as required by subpoena, court order or other legal process.
